on foot...

Budget 35-45 minutes walking time. I walk it with Gypsy Anna and a load of shopping on my back (probably about 20kg or so) in about 45 minutes.

Orient yourself in the CBD. You should be able to find Elizabeth street and the Elizabeth street mall without trouble. Walk up Elizabeth street in the direction of North Hobart, through the North Hobart shopping area to the North Hobart post office (on your left). Elphinstone Road is on the left just after the post office and goes uphill. Take this road. You'll pass a lot of restaurants, the Republic bar and café (the local left wing entertainment establishment) and the State cinema (our alternate art house cinema in Hobart) on your way.

Now walk up Elphinstone road until you get to a small roundabout (traffic circle). Cross it and continue straight, this is still Elphinstone road, but a dead end which becomes a track (just a foot path) which follows a small creek past an empty horse paddock and some blocks of flats. It emerges on Montagu Street.

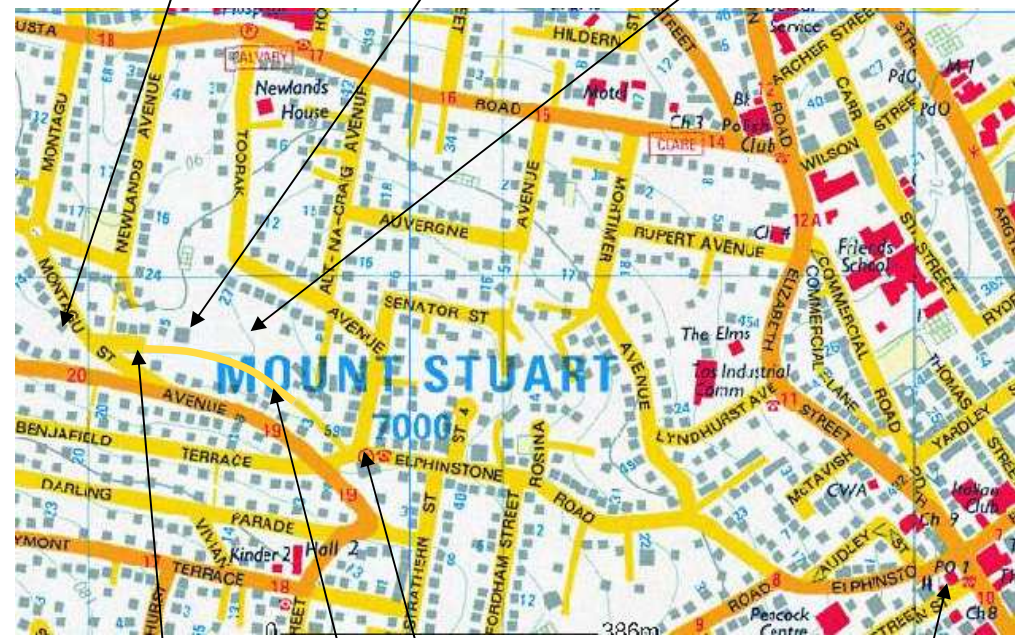

Montagu street is odd here. If you walk on to the first junction this is where Montagu street meets Montagu street. You have come from the old Montagu street (where the block of flats are) onto the new Montagu street (which bypasses the dead end to join Gordon avenue above).

6 Montagu street is just across the road now, a blue weatherboard house behind a tall brown wooden fence.
